

'Rules for Leeds Liverpool Canal Day-Ticket Holders'

01. Every angler holding a ticket from the Association shall, on request, show the same to any owner or occupier of land or servant of the same upon which the Association's members have fishing rights; to any bailiff or member of the Association.

02. Holders of day-tickets must not leave refuse or litter of any kind on the banks, towpaths or in the canal. Anyone found doing so is liable to expulsion from the venue, no refund will be offered.

Anglers must take all discarded fishing line home in order to prevent unnecessary suffering to birds and wildlife, thus avoiding adverse publicity falling on the Association and the Angling Fraternity in general.

03. If anyone holding an Association's ticket be known to willfully or carelessly do any damage to property of any occupier of land on the Association's preserves, or be the cause of the same, he shall be required to pay to the person whose property is damaged an amount equivalent to the damage done or caused to be done. Anyone contravening these rules will be liable to having their ticket revoked without refund. This rule shall also apply in the case of any member being found guilty of trespassing on other preserves.

04. All fish (with exception to those outlined in rule 15) to be liberated and no attempt made to disgorge the hook when same has been swallowed, but the line must be cut close to the fish's mouth and the fish returned to the water as gently and quickly as possible, and with the least injury practicable Forceps are recommended for unhooking lip hooked fish.

05. Anglers must enter the waters by the recognised entrance and must not cross fields except down wall or hedge sides.

06. Anglers must not leave any rod and line with its hook and bait in the water unattended.

07. Fishing is not allowed on any waters between dusk and dawn.

08. Anglers are strictly forbidden in any way to pollute or throw any substance in the canal or damage any of the fences, walls or other works of the Canal and Rivers Trust. Any member found so doing will be immediately expelled from the venue with no refund offered and will be required to pay the cost of reinstating damage.

09. Dogs are not permitted to be in the attendance of an angler whilst fishing.
